BEAUTIFUL FURMAN TRIBUTE

Tremendous Crowd Gathers at Station to Receive Ada's Conquering Hero

On election eve, Otis B. Weaver, president of the Furman Democratic club, arranged to have Judge Furman greeted at the station Saturday morning with a big demonstration. The judge closed his campaign at Ardmore Friday afternoon and was expected home on this morning's train. The ovation was arranged for a surprise for him. The Merchant's band was engaged, and nearly 1,000 people of Ada gathered at the station to meet their distinguished neighbor upon his home coming. As the train steamed in its noise was drowned by the band music and the huzzas from hundreds of throats, while there waved hats and flags in great profusion. Mrs. Furman alighted from the train, but the judge did not appear. He had been detained at Ardmore, and will not reach home until this afternoon. The crowd was not to be disappointed; three cheers for Mrs. Furman were proposed and they were given most lustily. She graciously acknowledged the compliment as she was surrounded by a large number of admiring friends, and the train pulled on north exhorting by the shouts of the people to "Run as fast as Furman is running," and to "Carry the Furman sentiment on north."

PRIMARY ELECTION TALK

Expect Total Vote of 100,000 All Candidates Still Confident

This is primary election day for democratic candidates for all state, judicial, legislative, county, township and precinct offices, county and precinct committeemen, and including two United States senators. The election is to be conducted under the supervision of the central committees of each county of both Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

There are about 1,950 townships in the Territories. It is estimated nearly 30,000 names will appear on the combined tickets, which includes candidates for all grades of office from United States senators to precinct committeemen. Six places are to be filled in each township, thirteen in each county, 144 members of the legislature are to be elected, there are 55 candidates for state offices, all exclusive of judicial district offices. At least two people aspire to nearly every office, while some places are contended for by five or six candidates; so, if anything, the estimate is nearly the minimum. While these figures from one party appear large, there is stated that the new government must be organized from the ground up, and any opposing party putting out tickets will make about the same showing.

The democratic organization anticipates approximately a full vote in the primary election. In the election for constitutional convention delegates Indian Territory cast 51,533 and Oklahoma 52,133 democratic votes. A total of 103,666. If there is anything in the republican claim that many of their party voted the democratic ticket the aggregate Saturday will not reach these figures. As there are few statistics to rely upon it is almost impossible to determine how heavy the voting will be, but there is reason to believe that the interest the candidates have aroused will rally many voters to the polls. There has been no easing up by the candidates; on the contrary this week has brought forth about all the vigor remaining.

The list of candidates for state offices to appear on the official ballot is unchanged from that recently published by the state committee excepting the race for state labor commissioner, from which J. S. Murray, of Emitt, I. T., recently withdrew. This gives the office to Charles L. Dougherty of Oklahoma City without a contest.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—Estimates on the vote to be cast in the Oklahoma democratic primaries today vary from 60,000 to 120,000, the latter being accepted by leaders as the correct party strength in the new state. A total of 80,000 is thought by many to be a conservative prediction, unless, as is expected, many republicans enter the primaries on account of the inactivity of their own party. The heaviest vote is looked for from Indian Territory, where matters approaching statehood are believed to be the most popular.

The republican state organization here manifests no interest in the result. It insists that the total poll will not exceed 60,000 votes notwithstanding the interest aroused through the individual campaign. A number of candidates closed their campaigns here last night. Of the gubernatorial candidates Cruce finished in Tishomingo, Haskell in Wagoner and Doyle in Guthrie. Hoffman, Turner and Gore, senatorial candidates from the Oklahoma side, is each claiming a victory anywhere from 7,000 to 20,000 plurality. Doyle for governor, claims 50 per cent of the Oklahoma vote, and a plurality in the Choctaw Nation.

Returns will be received here at the state democratic headquarters, and the headquarters of Cruce and Hoffman. Haskell will get his information in Muskogee.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—On the eve of the democratic primaries, both Mr. Haskell of Muskogee and Mr. Cruce of Ardmore are claiming the gubernatorial nomination. From the best information Mr. Haskell is counting on sweeping the majority portion of Indian Territory with the exception of Chickasaw Nation, where he figures upon dividing honors with Mr. Cruce, and counts on polling a substantial vote in Oklahoma. This statement has been given the public by Mr. Haskell's supporters.

"The former vote of the two territories will give C. N. Haskell the gubernatorial nomination Saturday. A careful canvass of the state shows that four-fifths of the former vote is for Haskell on his constitutional record and fight against corporations.

Haskell will carry Indian Territory by 18,000 votes, which will more than nominate. The Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw and Seminole Nations are solidly lined up for him and in Chickasaw Nation he will carry Garvin, Murray, Johnson and Pontotoc counties with about an even break in Grady and Stevens. From the Cherokee and Choctaw nations will come the majority that will count.

"In Oklahoma Mr. Haskell will carry Pottawatomie, Kay, Payne, Grant, Alfalfa, Majors, Tillman, Beekman, Washita, Jackson, Ellis and Beaver. His vote will be very close in Kiowa, Cleveland and Blaine."

John P. Dulin of Alva, Woods county, in charge of Mr. Cruce headquarters here, puts the Ardmore man down for 25,000 plurality in the state at large, 15,000 in Oklahoma and 10,000 in Indian Territory. This organization is counting on a heavy vote from the Chickasaw Nation, Mr. Cruce's home country, and will more than get a record in the Choctaw country. This statement was made today.

From a careful poll of the heavy voting counties of both territories Cruce will lead the highest candidate by 25,000 votes. We feel that the campaign has been waged to its limit, and certainly Mr. Cruce has lost no ground since the poll was taken. From Oklahoma will come 15,000 of these votes, and from Indian Territory 10,000.

No statement has been secured from Tom Doyle, the Oklahoma candidate.

PONTOTOC'S BIG ELECTION

Lots of Work and Milling About But not the Large Vote Expected

Ada's first big election day dawned sultry, and the ice famine which is on today didn't help the weather, either.

The various candidates and their workers got out early. Ere long, the sidewalks were a mass of jostling, milling humanity. Workers and wagons had been pulling and hauling all day. It is just such a busy day of electioneering and whispered conferences as one would expect when so many offices are to be filled and so many men are running for them.

At three o'clock p. m. about 200 votes had been cast in each of the two Ada boxes. It is thought the final vote in each will reach 300, and that the counting of the ballots will be completed by midnight.

At three o'clock a phone message from Stonewall said 120 votes had been cast there, and 160 were expected; that among those apparently carrying the box were Cruce, Linebaugh, Dean, Nester and Kerr.

At Francis the voting is very sluggish, scarcely more than half the vote is expected. It is reported that there is no opposition to Furman there, the box is going to Roddy and to Cox. For sheriff, Smith and Bobbitt are in the lead.

GREAT OPEN AIR MEETING

Democrats, Both Male and Female Listen to Speeches Till Midnight.

It was a notable gathering, that in front of The News office Friday night, on the eve of the election. It had been advertised to take place at the court house, but it was decided it would be more pleasant out of doors. An abundance of chairs was provided, and a table placed near the Light Company's brilliant front, which furnished plenty of light for the speakers to read particularly important "dope" by.

By nine o'clock a large crowd of voters and fair non-voters had assembled and the speaking began. Otis B. Weaver called the assembled people to order and introduced Mayor C. O. Barton as the presiding officer and as the speaker selected to make an address in behalf of Judge Furman's candidacy. The mayor in his dignified and forceful manner spoke for about forty minutes, paying high tribute to the character and talents of Furman and exhorted his neighbors not to tarnish the name of Adaby cast a single vote against Pontotoc county's great commoner. Otis B. Weaver followed with a speech supporting candidacy of J. W. Dean for state senator, incidentally explaining the reasons for his own withdrawal from race.

The latter half of the program consisted of a spirited joint discussion between James W. Bolen, representing Haskell, and T. D. McKeown, championing the cause of Cruce. Both acquitted themselves splendidly, playing marked forensic ability, each presenting the claims of his principal with admirable vigor and fidelity. Although this debate lasted until a midnight the bulk of the crowd remained to the last, orderly, good tured, comfortable, and manife agreeably edified.

GOT UP AGAINST EXPLOSIVE

"Whiskey" Johnson Came near Smiling Wagon Load of Nitro Glycerine.

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—"Whiskey" Johnson has gained the reputation going up against any kind of a job but he reached the limit the other night when he tackled a nitro glycerine wagon and started smashing it believing it was whiskey. When Johnson made for the wagon the driver gave one yell, sprang from the wagon and jumped into the Arkansas river. Johnson saw his mistake just in time to prevent being wiped out of existence along with three or four other men and three teams.

It all happened near Red Fork Johnson with assistants, was driven to Sapulpa when in the dusk, he and two teams. One was a whiskey, the other was a whiskey, and the other was a whiskey. The boot-legger's outfit was captured and 120 bottles of liquor smashed. The driver of the wagon leaped from his wagon, disappeared in a thicket and swimming the Arkansas river in his escape.

A. H. Burgess of Sadler, Tex., who was in Ada yesterday on business returned to his home this morning.

A SWEEPING DECISION

Thousands of Choctaw Will Cases Knocked Out By Townsend.

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—Thousands of Mississippi Choctaw Indian will cases have been knocked out in the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations by a decision of Judge Townsend of Ardmore. The case in point was that of John Prichet vs. J. E. Arnold. The latter who had brought many Mississippi Choctaws from Mississippi, had them will him their land and make them executor of their wills. About 100 wills of this kind have been filed by Arnold with the United States clerk. W. W. Bennett, contest attorney for the government, asked that wills be not admitted to probate, on the grounds that the Mississippi Choctaws had not proved up their right and had no estate other than their certificate of designation of their lands. Before a deed can be secured a Mississippi Choctaw must live in Indian Territory three years. Judge Townsend sustained Mr. Bennett on every point. There are thousands of cases similar to the Arnold cases.

Furman Strong at Ardmore.

Reliable advices today from Ardmore are to the effect that Judge Furman will carry that county (Carter) by 1,500 plurality, that he is carrying Ardmore by a heavy vote.

STILL MAKING FUN OF OUR NAME.
"Ada is now in the second class post-office ranks. It is so puffed up over the distinction that we confidently expect to see it spell its name 'Adah.'"

The above comment is from the exchange editor of the Oklahoman. Guess these foreigners will never quit poking fun at our name. Of course it is effeminate and very deminutive. But last year The News held a voting contest, giving citizens a chance to express a desire to change the name, with the result showing an utter indifference as to what the city is called.

The question still stands "What's in a name?" Some say there is nothing in a name and the start ours has can make good to metropolitan proportions despite its name. There have been greater obstacles—worse names—to overcome.

CITIZENSHIP ROLLS

Government has ordered that they be Published.

The government has authorized the publication of the citizenship rolls of the Five Civilized Tribes. These rolls will be authentic and 2,500 copied will be printed by the government and sold. They will cost $1.25 each and may be had at the office of the Dawes Commission in about 60 days as soon as the printer can publish them. These rolls will contain the age, name, sex and degree of Indian blood of every one of the 192,000 citizens who have allotments in the five nations. It will be a valuable publication for all persons who have anything to do with Indian lands, or with the Indian people.

This will be the first time that the government has ever made public any of the citizenship rolls of any of the five tribes.

Cotton Crop Situation.

The Memphis Commercial Appeal, which has secured data from all the cotton growing sections of the southern states, announces that the decrease of acreage as compared with last year is one-sixth of one per cent. Its further deductions are:

That the crop is twenty days later than last year; that replanting has been necessary in all states to a large extent; that the general vitality and condition of the plant is low; that cultivation is greatly delayed on account of the late start, and that in many sections planting is still in progress where cultivation would ordinarily be the rule; that stands as a whole are unsatisfactory; that labor conditions are practically the same as last year. The showing by the several states is as follows:

Mississippi—Acreage 93.5 per cent; replanted, 63 per cent; days late 23.
Arkansas—Acreage, 93.3 per cent; replanted, 57 per cent; days late, 24.
Georgia—Acreage, 101 per cent; replanted, 32 per cent; days late 14.
Tennessee—Acreage, 93.6 per cent; replanted, 45 per cent; days late, 24.
Texas—Acreage 104.6 per cent; replanted, 80 per cent; days late, 20.
Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Acreage, 111 per cent; replanted, 45 per cent; days late, 14.
Missouri—Acreage, 96 per cent; replanted, 35 per cent; days late 18.
North Carolina—Acreage, 100 per cent; replanted, 25 per cent; days late, 7.
Louisiana—Acreage 97.1 per cent; replanted 49 per cent; days late 27.

HASKELL IS WELL PLEASED

Muskogee Man Claims a Number of Towns Have Lined up for Him.

The Hon. C. N. Haskell in conversation with The News at 4:29 o'clock p. m. stated that close and careful estimates had been made by competent authorities of the election results in the gubernatorial race in the cities of South McAlester, Shawnee, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Durant, Claremore, Waukeet, Tahlaquah, Sallisaw and Stigler. It is stated that Mr. Haskell will undoubtedly carry every one of these towns with the possible exception of Oklahoma City and that indeed the Cruce management fears that metropolis may be lost to their favorite.

Late telephone messages indicate that Mr. Haskell has carried nearly all the country boxes and that the towns of Roff, Stonewall and Allen have gone for Mr. Cruce. Roff and Stonewall by a large majority. It is now conceded by the Cruce leaders in Ada that Mr. Haskell will receive a much larger vote than was expected, indeed it is thought that Mr. Cruce's majority in Ada will be very small; the vote in Ada will likely reach 650. Fitzhugh will poll about 150 votes and has gone for Haskell strong. Telephone message from Ardmore states that Cruce is perfectly confident that he has won the nomination.

The latest reports from Seminoe nation state that Dean is leading in the heaviest voting boxes. Phone message from Fitzhugh states that Dean will carry that box by a good majority and votes this afternoon especially going strong for him.

Latest reports to The News states that Judge Furman's vote in larger towns and cities in the state will be much stronger than generally expected by his close political friends. Betting is lively in Oklahoma City and there is general confidence that Furman will make the landing.

GREAT DROVES OF CARIBOU.
Hunter Says Big Game is Still Abundant in Alaska.
Ed Tinker, of East Los Angeles, has returned from a nine-year sojourn in Alaska.
"It's a life," said Tinker yesterday, "of some hardships, but I enjoyed every day of it. I hunted as much with the gun as with the gold pan."
"One winter, before the law prohibited the sale of caribou for food, my partner and I hunted for market. We were 140 miles up the river back of Dawson, and brought out the best on sleds, my six dogs bringing out two sleds at a time. We sold upward of $6,000, worth of meat, killing 330 caribou. I had 18 caribou on the sleds the first trip out to Dawson. They weighed 1,330 pounds, and I received $1 a pound, including skins."
"You might think the game would soon be killed off at that rate, but if you were to see the droves of caribou that I have seen in that country you would readily believe that there will be game in Alaska indefinitely for the one who is willing to endure hardships with the mercury 20 degrees below zero. Of course, if a man is accustomed to a steam heated office and has not the pluck to subject himself to hard work and zero weather he can shoot a fine specimen of moose or caribou with a $100 bill right on the streets of Dawson."

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure by local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proved catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circular and testimonials.

Col. H. C. Pearson, the gallant flag bearer of the Indian Territory division U. S. C. V., has returned from Richmond, Va., where he attended the greatest reunion ever held by ex-Confederate veterans. It lasted three days and the colonel says he had the time of his life. There were 15,000 in the grand parade, and he was in evidence with his beloved stars and bars.

Col. Pearson also visited the old battle ground of Petersburg and Seven Pines. He brought The News a souvenir from each of the battle grounds—two fragments of fat pine that has evidently resisted decay for many years. One of them he believes was torn from the mother tree by artillery.

She Couldn't Support Him.

"Will you support me?" playfully inquired the young politician of his young lady friend on election day.

"Can't possibly," was the sweet reply, "I'm looking for a supporter myself."

REVIVAL AT THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The revival services at the first Christian church were well attended last night, considering other attractions, and Evangelist Fife preached one of his best sermons on the Holy Spirit. He will preach tonight on the "Unpardonable sin." Sunday morning on "How to Build up a Church," and Sunday night on "Can the Christian World be United?" The Bible school rally at 9:45 a. m. will be very interesting. Every person is to bring a nail as the price of admission.

A lively interest was created last night when the evangelist proceeded to produce authorities to sustain his statement made Wednesday night that "The assembly of divines at Westminster Abbey in 1643 decided by a majority of twenty-five to twenty-four votes, to introduce sprinkling for baptism, to take the place of the apostolic practice of immersion. This statement aroused some one who filed his objection through the query box, the objector contending that the vote alluded to was not to introduce sprinkling for baptism, as sprinkling had been the practice of the church from the beginning, but that it was to decide whether or not immersion should be introduced to take the place of sprinkling. In reply to this objection the evangelist quoted from numerous encyclopedias and Bible scholars that are considered authorities the world over. Some of the quotations were as follows:—American Encyclopedia—"In the time of the apostles the form of baptism was very simple. The person to be baptised was dipped in a river or vessel, with the words which Christ had ordered and is to express more fully his change of character, generally adopted a new man. The Greek church retained this custom; but the western church adopted, in the thirteenth century, the mode of baptism by sprinkling, which has been carried on by the protestants, the Baptists only excepted. The introduction of this mode of baptism was owing to the great inconvenience that arose from the immersion of the whole body in the northern climates of Europe."

Calvin on Baptism, Article 4-9—"But whether the person who is baptised be wholly immersed, and whether thrice or once, or whether water be water be only poured or sprinkled upon him is of no importance. Churches ought to be left at liberty in this respect, to act according to the differences of the countries. The word baptise, however, signifies to immerse, and it is certain that immersion was the practice of the ancient church."

John Wesley—"Buried with him by baptism, alluding to the ancient manner of baptising by immersion."

Brenner, a Catholic—"For thirteen hundred years was baptism an immersion of the person under water."

Jeremiah, a native Greek—"The ancients did not sprinkle the candidate, but immersed him."

Neander—"Baptism was originally administered by immersion."

Conybeare and Howson—"It is needless to add that baptism was (unless in exceptional cases) administered by immersion, the convert being plunged beneath the surface of the water. It must be a subject of regret that the general discontinuance of this original secure to popular appreciation some very important passages of scripture."

Eusebins—"The first law for sprinkling was obtained by Pope Stephen the II, in A. D. 753. It was not until the year 1311 that the legislature, in a council held at Ravena, declared immersion or sprinkling indifferent. In Scotland, however, sprinkling was never practiced in ordinary cases, till after the reformation about the middle of the sixteenth century."

Edinburgh Encyclopedia—"In the assembly of divines held at Westminster in 1643, it was kindly debated whether sprinkling or immersion should be adopted; twenty-five voted for sprinkling, and twenty-four voted for immersion, and even this small majority was obtained at the earnest request of Dr. Lightfoot who had acquired great influence in the assembly. Sprinkling is therefore, the general practice of this country. Many Christians, however, especially the baptists, rejected it. The Greek church universally adheres to immersion."

On Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock another great meeting for women and girls will be held. A special program of music and other interesting features are being prepared, and the house is expected to be crowded.

NEW FRISCO TIME CARD. Time of Arrival of All Trains to Some Extent Changed.

On Saturday night, at mid-night, the following new time card will go into effect:

No. 510—Meteor. 4:55 p. m.

No. 509—Meteor. 9:35 a. m.

No. 511—Texas Passenger. 8:23 p. m.

No. 515—Sherman Express. 3:05 a. m.

It will be observed that No. 515 will arrive 7 hours and 23 minutes earlier, and there are changes in all other trains ranging from 5 minutes to an hour and a half. The timorous need not fear to ride on Nos. 512 and 509; they being scheduled at Ada at the same time, from opposite directions does not indicate that there will be a head on collision every day. The slower train will probably take the siding while the meteor tarries at the station. This explanation, of course, is assuming that all trains will always be on time on the Frisco—a violent assumption, as the traveling public will testify.

Pretty Things for Gifts

USEFUL AND EASILY MADE LITTLE ARTICLES.

Workbox of Pasteboard Covered with Figured Cretonne—Photograph Frames Are Always an Acceptable Present to Offer.

The pictures show useful little gifts which would not be difficult for the home worker to copy. The workbox was made of pasteboard, covered with figured cretonne or silk, with the inside in plain color material to match. The box can be opened and laid flat by untying the ribbons at the corners, so that it is a very convenient style for traveling, as well as for everyday use.

The inside is fitted up with pockets to hold buttons, spools and thimbles, and a needle case and pincushion are also added. These pockets are shirred sides of the box, with a flannel needle case on one of the other sides and a pincushion on the other.

Photograph frames, though not new, are always acceptable as gifts, the tapestry and brocade kinds being much liked, as they are an acceptable addition to any drawing-room table. The one shown in the drawing was of rich, softly colored brocade, showing a landscape pattern, the edge being bound with gilt tapestry braid. The shape of the frame is first cut from heavy cardboard, then a sheet of cotton batting is fastened on. Next stretch the silk over the frame, pasting the outside edge before cutting the silk for the opening in the center. The back is of heavy cardboard, either tinted to match the frame or in plain dark green.

A slit is then cut, through which the photograph can be slipped, and a cardboard or brass standard is inserted, after which the back is glued to the front part and the edges bound with the braid.

CARE AND COMFORT OF THE INVALID

Little Attentions Which Help the Nurse and Her Patient.

Spring is a most trying season for the invalid who must be confined when all nature and humanity seem to be springing into new life outdoors. Little attentions and comforts are more than ordinarily welcome just now in the sick room.

If the patient is beginning to sit propped up in bed do not depend upon pillows. Make a good home-built imitation of the supports used in hospitals. Select about six strong two-inch boards and set them into a frame big enough to tilt at an angle of 45 degrees or more from the top of the head of the bed to the mattress. Paint this rack white to match the iron bed and fasten it to the top iron rod with stout tape or canvas bands. Lay one or two pillows against this and you will find the invalid rests more comfortably than against a nest of pillows.

If the patient complains that the room smells close, and yet you know that it is properly ventilated, try burning this new form of sick room incense: Soak a sheet of brown paper in saltpeter, allow it to dry, powder it thickly with dried lavender leaves. Lay this in a deep pan and burn it.

If the patient can sit up in bed for brief periods of relaxation at once provide a bed table. If you have an old sewing table with legs that fold you can brace this on either side with pillows or cushions and the legs folded under, or, better still, cut off the legs until they are only about six or eight inches long and place this queer table over the patient's knee. On it can be arranged games, writing materials or for a child, toys.

If the patient is fond of flowers and the cost of cut blooms is beyond the family purse, this is just the season when ferns and wild flowers can be used to advantage. Set a deep, cracked dish in the bottom of a fancy basket with or without handles, fill it with dirt and moss and transplant woodland treasures to the sick room. They will not live many days, but they will give the patient much pleasure and the care of them, watering and cutting off dead leaves, furnishes distraction.

SOMBER PARASOL IS OUT OF DATE

Colors of All Kinds Will Be Seen During the Summer.

Every color of the rainbow will be carried by fashionable belles this summer to shade their faces from the blazing rays of Old Sol.

A charming lingerie parasol, to be worn with duck or organdy gown, is of white linen. A hemstitched flounce, full and fluffy, softens the edge, while over it depends medallions of embroidery. Above these is an inch width of insertion of princess lace. The whole makes a simple sunshade, but an inexpensive one.

Pongee is always serviceable, and for that reason not costly. A green and ecru one is intended for morning wear. The main portion of the shade is of natural colored pongee with large dots of deep moss green. The edge of the parasol cover is of the pongee, then alternate a wide band of green and narrow ones of the natural tone and green again.

Upon each section of a white silk parasol is embroidered a flower-filled basket. This lovely design is wrought with ribbon bows, and the jewel pattern edge is soft with pinks, blues, lavenders, yellows and greens.

DEVICE LEARNED FROM THE TAILOR

Proper Method to Mark Both Sides of Waist or Coat.

There are many lessons in dress-making that can be learned from the tailor and his methods. One of the most valuable is to be found in a study of the way in which he marks, the two sides of a waist or coat, so that plaits to be laid or trimming to be applied shall be exactly the same on both. First, he cuts the two pieces and lays them together face to face; then he either places over them a paper pattern, which is carefully marked, or chalks the proper marks on the upper piece. Then with a long double thread he takes alternately one long and two short stitches over the indicating lines. He then clips through the long stitches and proceeds to pull the two thicknesses of material gently apart, clipping each short stitch as it appears between the two. When all is done there remains on each piece a perfectly clear and true indicating line that cannot deviate in the least from the corresponding one on the other.

Smart Little Capes.

Little capes which can hardly be distinguished from a bolero at first sight are much in favor, and are smart made in white cloth.

LA LUNE

By F. H. LANCASTER.

(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Isidore sat on the front steps smoking twilight cigarettes in thoughtful sequence. The moon was rising and he looked at her as he smoked, but he was not thinking of the moon. He was thinking of Isabelle, the beauty of the school and the head of his class. Before school opened he and Isabelle had been good friends, but since they had come to sit together in the same class every day she had treated him with marked indifference. Why? Because she had found out that she was smarter than he was?

Monsieur's hearty voice broke into the uncomfortable conclusion, saying jovially:

"Ha, Isidore! What das you tink 'bout so hard?"

"I was tink 'bout das moon," Isidore told him promptly. "What 'tis make her come up, ha?"

"God knows," chuckled monsieur. Madame spoke up gently: "Voila, 'Dore. Why you don't ask teacher das?"

Isidore paused. Teacher was a young woman with a long nose and glasses that glittered. Truly, not a person to be questioned lightly. And to do it with Isabelle looking on disdaining his ignorance—mais arretez. "Maybe 'tis Isabelle don't know why 'tis moon come up!"

And if Isabelle did not know, and if he could find out, and then spring the knowledge on her—But, yes! It would be worth working for. Voila. As the possibilities of the situation became clear to him, Isidore realized that it would be worth waylaying teacher for.

So it chanced that as the teacher was walking home from school next day she saw one of her tall boys coming toward her with a determination in his stride.

"I can ask you something, if you please, and you won't tell anybody what 'tis I ask you?"

"What 'tis you wish to ask?" teacher almost stammered.

"What 'tis made das moon come up?"

"Moon! Oh, yes, moon! What is it that makes the moon come up? Oh, yes! I understand. I—I think that I can explain that. Let's see." She cast about for a substitute for a "solar system," and Isidore watched her anxiously. "Suppose teacher didn't know!"

"Wait," she said, "I have it."

She took her watch from her belt and her ring from her finger.

"Now you know, Isidore, the earth is bigger than the moon—"

"Mais oui, I know das," Isidore hastened to assure her.

"Well! Then we will call this watch the earth and this ring the moon—and here is the way the moon goes round the earth. Comes up this way—goes over this way—goes down this way—comes up again. When you are sitting on the earth like my thumb is on the watch here you would see the moon coming up—"

"C'est bon. Just like steer come up hill. First you see his horns, den you see his legs—Mais, why 'tis she don't fall down when she's straight up yonder?"

But the teacher knew this also.

"She goes too fast to fall," she explained smoothly. "Like when you throw your ball over the school-house."

"Just like das! Mais oui. Now 'tis I know. And, me, I'm glad I know das. Je vous remercie."

He was glad and grateful—and triumphant. It did not seem at all probable that Isabelle possessed such knowledge. Isidore watched the teacher readjust her belongings with respect and when the ring slipped and fell he stooped with eager gallantry and returned it to her with something warmer than respect. Teacher's nose, he thought, did not look so long, nor her glasses so shiny. And he was ready for Mademoiselle Isabelle. Let her snub him some more to-morrow.

Eh bien, Isabelle did not snub him on the morrow. She did not see him. With her head up and her lashes down she could not see Isidore, even when he stood right in front of her. But everybody else in the school could see him. See him, yes, and smile at his discomfiture.

"Mais what 'tis I been do," Isidore pondered. "No, I ain't been do nothing unless it is—" and the thought made him jump—"unless 'tis das teacher tell."

Had teacher told? She boarded with Isabelle's mamma. Had she told Isabelle about the moon? Isidore looked sharply at the suspected young woman and he saw that her nose was long—too long to be trusted—and that there was a cold glitter about her glasses that held no promise of a high sense of honor. Teacher had told!

Mais voila! How was he to know? Ask Isabelle! The answer jumped at him from the pages of the spelling book and shook him until his breath came in gulps, but by the time school was dismissed Isidore knew it. Knew, yes, that a man will go farther for vengeance than he would dare to go for love. And his stride was steady and his voice was firm when he overtook Isabelle as she came from the store that evening.

"I wish to know what 'tis teacher's been tell' you 'bout me," he demanded.

Isabelle lifted her head and her eyes blazed.

"Been tell'?" she uttered.

"Yes," he insisted. "What 'tis?"

Isabelle recovered herself with still disdain. "She ain't been tell me no'ting," she said coldly, and stepped into the grass to pass him.

Isidore was before her.

"Den how 'tis you know?" he demanded doggedly.

Isabelle's anger blazed again.

"Know," she repeated. "Maybe 'tis you tink I can't see! Ha?"

"See?" Isidore questioned. "See?"

Mais what 'tis you see den?"

The beauty looked him over with burning eyes.

"What 'tis I see? Voila, what 'tis I see! I see you yesterday when you give teacher ring."

"Ring!" Isidore repeated blankly. "Ring!" Then the joy of it came to him and he assumed serenely.

"I gave teacher ring yesterday, yes, mais 'twas her ring."

Isabelle's shoulders lifted.

"Yes," she mocked, "I reckon, me, 'tis her ring now and—" Something too strong for her broke off Isabelle's polite speech. Isidore's serenity fled from him.

"Non, non!" he cried. "'Twas her ring. She drop it on ground—me, I pick it—I give it to her. Mais oui! She was show me what 'tis make moon come up. And she drop it on ground. Mais oui. 'Twas like dis. I meet teacher come from school and I ask her, me, 'What 'tis make moon come up?' And she show me how 'tis. Voila! Teacher have her watch, but me, I ain't got watch, I take your hand. And we say like dis. Your hand is earth where we live and dis ring—"

Isidore drew forth a silver one bought a year ago when his hopes were high—and dis ring will be like de moon. And she go round and round de earth—Comme-ca? Teacher say moon go so fast she can't fall down on earth, mais dis moon, she don't go so fast like das. Voila, elle la tombe de sur votre doigt."

And the ring was on Isabelle's slim brown finger, shining softly there in the falling light. Isabelle looked at it and Isidore looked at her, and softly through the woods there came reaching to them mystical beams of magic beauty that touched their bent heads with tenderness and lay like a promise of peace on the locked young hands. Isabelle drew a breath.

"Voila," she whispered, "La lune."

Isidore did not look round.

"Yes," he said, "she come up, mais did moon"—he kissed the ring shyly—"dis moon, she—stay still."

TIGER HUNT IN COREA.

How Javanese Guard Against Man-eaters—Cave Tiger of Amoy.

"The tiger," said George Robertson, of Scotland, who has had many exciting experiences in hunting tigers in far Eastern countries, "is usually looked on as a tropical beast, but as a matter of fact he is found pretty much throughout the continent of Asia. He is an animal of great power, resource and intelligence and exerts a great influence on the lives of the people."

"In Corea, where I have hunted, there are no forests on the seaboard, but the inland ridges are heavily timbered, and here the tigers are found. The beasts are numerous and are pursued on foot. After two or three vain chases I was told by the natives that no tigers could be found unless a sacrifice were offered, and accordingly I gave up some coin for the necessary rice and wine. The sacrifice was accordingly made, and the next day I shot a very handsome specimen. In every Corean village there is an official hornblower, whose duty it is to sound his horn whenever a tiger gets into a village at night. The natives are sorely afraid of them, and many a human life is annually destroyed by the savage beasts."

"In the province of Amoy I ran across the cave tigers. The land is bare of woods or brush, and the tigers live in long tunnels in the rocks. The Chinese hunt them with torches, carrying three-pronged spears, and the boys who go on these dangerous expeditions proceed with as much coolness as the average youth in this country does in a rabbit hunt. A tiger, however, will not charge a light, but woe to the hunter whose light goes out."

"In Java there are more tigers than anywhere I have hunted. In some places the brutes are so numerous that the inhabitants slept in houses built on piles, so as to be protected from their assaults. The Javanese hold them in such awe that many of the natives abstain even from using the name of the beast."

Rhine Wine Made of Drugs.

Lovers of Rhine wine and Moselle will be shocked to learn of the trial of a wine dealer named Kern, in Germany. He was convicted of having sold 35,000 gallons of fine Rhine wine, which he had made artificially with the help of chemical substances without using a single drop of real wine. He was heavily fined.

One of the witnesses for the prosecution was a chemical expert who testified that to his knowledge a dealer in drugs had sold, within seven years, 200 tons of glycerin, 120 tons of tartaric acid, ten tons of potash and 11 tons of citric acid to Rhine and Moselle wine dealers.

According to another German government detective another dealer in chemicals had furnished every year 257 German wine merchants with drugs intended for the production of fake wines. Nearly every year more than 100 wine dealers are sentenced for selling "doctored" wine, and only last year 655,000 liters of wine were destroyed by government inspectors because of poisoning chemicals.

Giving Clothes a Rest

PROCESS KEEPS GARMENTS IN FRESHNESS.

Fatal Mistake to Allow Lines and Wrinkles to Show—Proper Way to Clean and Press Skirts—Wash Frocks.

A clever girl with more taste than money always puts away her ribbons and laces to rest. This is not so much to freshen them, though they are improved by it, as to have something which is apparently new to her friends when she reweaves them after their "rest cure."

Nothing induces shabbiness in coats and gowns more than the lines and wrinkles which show that they have been worn and re-worn. Walking creases make a garment old before it has done its duty.

Men know this better than women and this is why a man is well dressed with a small wardrobe, because every week or so he makes a change of suits, sends the suit he has been wearing to the tailor and never by any chance allows a wrinkle to become fixed in his garments.

Here is a plan that has been tried with success for cleaning and pressing skirts: Brush them first, then whisk off with a clean brush dampened in ammonia and warm water. Any stain can be removed if rubbed out at once with a mixture of equal parts of ammonia, alcohol and water.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECTS SEEN IN BRAIDS

Even Thin Fabrics Do Not Escape Fashionable Trimming.

More beautiful effects are wrought in braids than ever were thought of before this season, and though it may seem like an old, old story to talk of these trimmings, the couturieres are constantly using them in new designs. The latest wrinkle for the ever popular soutache is to sew it edge-on, not flat, by which means greater relief is given to the pattern. Thin satins and mousselines, which have to a certain extent escaped braided embellishments heretofore, are now lavishly adorned with soutache, tulle and other smart braids, which serve to reproduce the most handsome and complicated patterns and threaten to take the place of embroideries in some instances.

Simulating stripes are cross-barred effects on plain fabrics, the new braiding is very smart, although it takes an endless amount of material for this

After the skirt is thoroughly cleaned, brushed and dried lay it on the pressing table or board, pin each plait down in its proper fold, cover the skirt with a piece of dark, woolen goods, which had been previously dampened, and then press.

After it is pressed hang it up carefully and leave the plaits pinned down until used.

To remove dust from silk skirts do not use a brush, but wipe them with a piece of velvet, which will not wear the silk and will remove the dust much better than a brush.

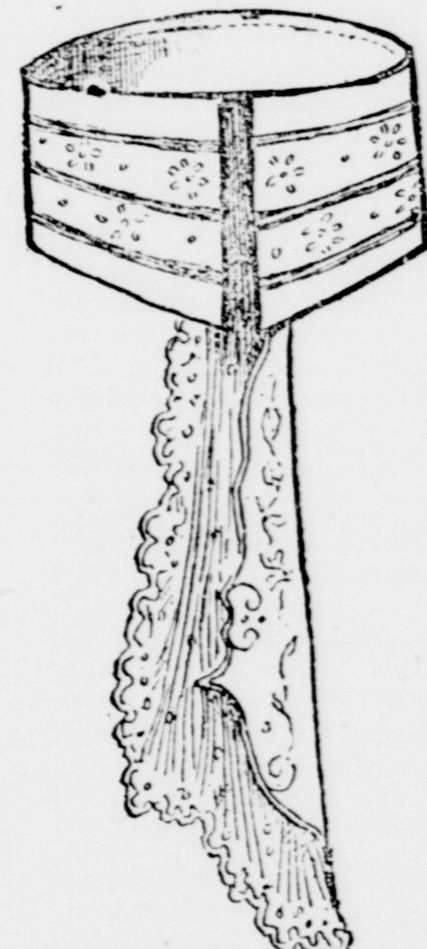

Silk or ruffled skirts should be fitted with tapes sewed on the lower ruffles, by which they can be hung upside down. This prevents the skirt from sagging and the ruffle from drooping.

Gown of delicate material should be put away in long boxes or bureau drawers, each skirt being folded in the plaits into which it should fall when worn. The bodices should be stuffed with tissue paper, the sleeves and trimmings filled out with tissue paper also.

Wash frocks should always be put away in trunks, boxes or drawers, whether they have been worn or not, for in hanging they grow stringy, are more easily affected by dampness and lose freshness.

Suits and frocks should be carefully gone over and mended and repaired before they are put away for rest.

NEW AND PRETTY COLLAR.

TRIMMING FOR THE JUMPER.

White Lace and Light Embroideries Cunningly Used.

Many of the new cloth frocks designed with jumper bodices show a tendency to introduce about the neck and shoulders a trimming much darker than the tone of the dress material, but this is combined with quantities of white lace and light embroideries which, of course, are admirably set off by the dark background of braid of silk bands. There is no embellishment, no matter how elegant, where buttons do not fit in nicely, and many of the most successful decorative schemes owe much of their merit to the introduction of various little novelties in the way of buttons.

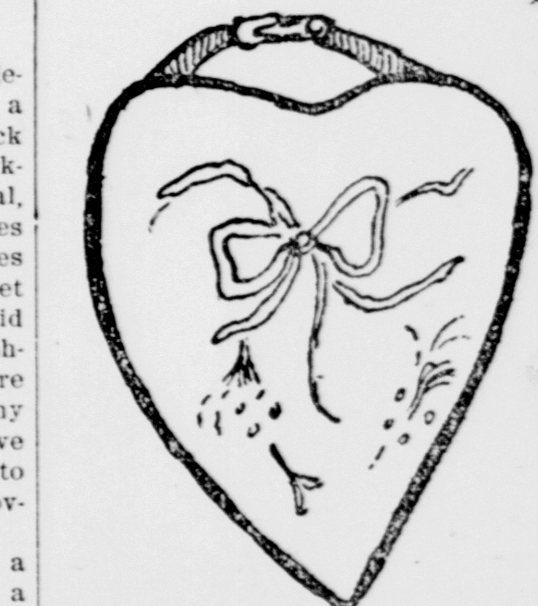

Nothing is more effective upon a dark brown or black dress than a touch of yellow, and a good way to introduce a little vivid coloring into the fashionable jumper blouse is to make a little shield for the front, starting at nothing on each side and gradually broaden out until the greatest width is in the exact center. The sleeve carries out the same idea by the introduction of a little colored embroidery in the seam just at the wrist, the embroidery being carried round the wrist.

Improvement on Plaited Skirt.

The plaited skirt, while smart in the extreme and popular beyond the dreams of even its most ardent advocates, is so generally used that most of us will welcome any departure from its somewhat conventional lines. The only thing that looks like a successful rival of plaited skirt popularity is the side-front-closing skirt. This mode is to be noted in the latest costumes of several women known for their cleverness in dress effects. A yellow tan broadcloth had the skirt so fastened on the left front, the fastenings being accomplished by broadcloth buttons set in black rims. The little coat, a half-fitted effect reaching just to the hips, was buttoned on the side also, with buttons similar in style but a size smaller. Still another side-front effect was noted in a buff lansdowne costume in which the plain waist was attached to a circular skirt, and both fastened with large covered mold buttons of brown silk. Two three-inch-wide bands of brown silk trimmed the skirt, and one finished the loose sleeves.

BEAUTIFUL FURMAN TRIBUTE

Tremendous Crowd Gathers at Station to Receive Ada's Conquering Hero

On election eve, Otis B. Weaver, president of the Furman Democratic club, arranged to have Judge Furman greeted at the station Saturday morning with a big demonstration. The judge closed his campaign at Ardmore Friday afternoon and was expected home on this morning's train. The ovation was arranged for a surprise for him.

The Merchant's band was engaged, and nearly 1,000 people of Ada gathered at the station to meet their distinguished neighbor upon his homecoming. As the train steamed in its noise was drowned by the band music and the buzzes from hundreds of throats, while there waved hats and flags in great profusion.

Mrs. Furman alighted from the train, but the judge did not appear. He had been detained at Ardmore, and will not reach home until this afternoon. The crowd was not to be disappointed, three cheers for Mrs. Furman were proposed and they were given most heartily. She graciously acknowledged the compliment as she was surrounded by a large number of admiring friends, and the train pulled on north, exhorted by the shouts of the people to "Run as fast as Furman is running," and to "Carry the Furman sentiment on north."

PRIMARY ELECTION TALK

Expect Total Vote of 100,000 All Candidates Still Confident

This is primary election day for the territories. The interest aroused through the individual campaign.

A number of candidates closed their campaigns here last night. Of the gubernatorial candidates Cruce finished in Tishomingo, Haskell in Wagoner and Doyle in Guthrie. Hoffman, Turner and Gore senatorial candidates from the Oklahoma side, is each claiming a victory anywhere from 7,000 to 20,000 plurality. Doyle for governor, claims 50 per cent of the Oklahoma vote, and a plurality in the Choctaw Nation.

Returns will be received here at the state democratic headquarters, and the headquarters of Cruce and Hoffman. Haskell will get his information in Muskogee.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—On the eve of the democratic primaries, both Mr. Haskell of Muskogee, and Mr. Cruce of Ardmore are claiming the gubernatorial nomination. From the best information Mr. Haskell is counting on sweeping the majority portion of Indian Territory with the exception of Chickasaw Nation, where he figures upon dividing honors with Mr. Cruce, and counts on polling a substantial vote in Oklahoma. This statement has been given the public by Mr. Haskell's supporters.

The farmer vote of the two territories will give C. N. Haskell the gubernatorial nomination Saturday. A careful canvass of the state shows that four-fifths of the farmer vote is for Haskell on his constitutional record and fight against corporations.

Haskell will carry Indian Territory by 18,000 votes, which will more than nominate. The Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw and Seminole Nations are solidly lined up for him and in Chickasaw Nation he will carry Garvin, Murray, Johnson and Pontotoc counties with about an even break in Grady and Stevens. From the Cherokee and Choctaw nations will come the majority that will count.

In Oklahoma Mr. Haskell will carry Pottawatomie, Kay, Payne, Grant, Alfalfa, Majors, Tillman, Beckham, Washita, Jackson, Ellis and Beaver. His vote will be very close in Kiowa, Cleveland and Blaine.

John P. Dulin of Alva, Woods county, in charge of Mr. Cruce headquarters here, puts the Ardmore man down for 25,000 plurality in the state at large, 15,000 in Oklahoma and 10,000 in Indian Territory. This organization is counting on a heavy vote from the Chickasaw Nation, Mr. Cruce's home country, and will more than get a record in the Choctaw country. This statement was made today.

From a careful poll of the heavy voting counties of both territories Cruce will lead the highest candidate by 25,000 votes. We feel that the campaign has been waged to its limit, and certainly Mr. Cruce has lost no ground since the poll was taken. From Oklahoma will come 15,000 of these votes, and from Indian Territory 10,000.

No statement has been secured from Tom Doyle, the Oklahoma candidate.

A SWEEPING DECISION

Thousands of Choctaw Will Cases Knocked Out By Townsend.

Muskogee, I. T. June 8.—Thousands of Mississippi Choctaw Indian will cases have been knocked out in the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations by a decision of Judge Townsend of Ardmore. The case in point was that of John Pichet vs. J. E. Arnold. The latter who had brought many Mississippi Choctaws from Mississippi, had them will him their land and make them executor of their wills. About 100 wills of this kind have been filed by Arnold with the United States clerk W. W. Bennett, contest attorney for the government, asked that wills be not admitted to probate, on the grounds that the Mississippi Choctaws had no proved up their right and had no estate other than their certificate of designation of their lands. Before a deed can be secured a Mississippi Choctaw must live in Indian Territory three years. Judge Townsend sustained Mr. Bennett on every point. There are thousand of cases similar to the Arnold cases.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—Estimates on the vote to be cast in the Oklahoma democratic primaries today vary from 60,000 to 120,000, the latter being accepted by leaders as the correct party, strength in the new state. A total of 80,000 is thought by many to be a conservative prediction. Unless, as is expected, many republicans enter the primaries on account of the inactivity of their own party.

The heaviest vote is looked for from Indian Territory, where matters approaching statehood are believed to be the most popular.

The republican state organization here manifests no interest in the result. It insists that the total poll will

PONTOTOC'S BIG ELECTION

Lots of Work and Milling About But not the Large Vote Expected.

Ada's first big election day dawned sultry, and the ice famine which is on today didn't help the weather, either.

The various candidates and their workers got out early. Ere long, the sidewalks were a mass of jostling, milling humanity. Workers and wagons had been pulling and hauling all day. It is just such a busy day of electioneering and whispered conferences as one would expect when so many offices are to be filled and so many men are running for them.

At three o'clock p. m. about 200 votes had been cast in each of the two Ada boxes. It is thought the final vote in each will reach 300, and that the counting of the ballots will be completed by midnight.

At three o'clock a phone message from Stonewall said 120 votes had been cast there, and 160 were expected; that among those apparently carrying the box were Cruce, Linebaugh, Dean, Nester and Kerr.

At Francis the voting is very sluggish, scarcely more than half the vote is expected. It is reported that there is no opposition to Furman there, the box is going to Roddy and to Cox. For sheriff, Smith and Bobbitt are in the lead.

GOT UP AGAINST EXPLOSIVE

"Whiskey" Johnson Came Near Smashing Wagon Load of Nitro Glycerine.

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—"Whiskey" Johnson has gained the reputation going up against any kind of a job but he reached the limit of his courage when he tackled a nitro glycerine wagon and started smashing it. Heaving it was whiskey. When Johnson made for the wagon the driver gave one yell, sprang from the wagon and jumped into the Arkansas river. Johnson saw his mistake just in time to prevent being wiped out of existence along with three or four other men and three teams.

It all happened near Red P. Johnson with assistants, was driven to Sapulpa when in the dusk, he two teams. One was a whiskey wagon and the other was a wagon with nitro glycerine, loaded for wells. In the dusk and confusion Johnson made for the wrong way. The boot-legger's outfit was captured and 120 bottles of liquor smashed. The driver of the wagon leaped from his wagon, disappeared in a thicket and swimming the Arkansas river in his escape.

GREAT OPEN AIR MEETING

Democrats, Both Male and Female Listen to Speeches Till Midnight.

It was a notable gathering, that in front of The News office Friday night, on the eve of the election. It had been advertised to take place at the court house, but it was decided it would be more pleasant out of doors. An abundance of chairs was provided, and a table placed near the Light Company's brilliant front, which furnished plenty of light for the speakers to read particularly important "dope" by.

By nine o'clock a large crowd of voters and fair non-voters had assembled and the speaking began. Otis B. Weaver called the assembled people to order and introduced Mayor C. O. Barton as the presiding officer and as the speaker selected to make an address in behalf of Judge Furman's candidacy. The mayor in his dignified and forceful manner spoke for about forty minutes, paying high tribute to the character and talents of Furman and exhorted his neighbors not

Proper Method to Mark Both Sides of Waist or Coat

There are many lessons in dress making that can be learned from the tailor and his methods. One of the most valuable is to be found in the study of the way in which he marks the two sides of a waist or coat so that the pieces to be laid out or trimmed to be applied shall be exactly the same on both. First he cuts the two pieces and then he lays them together face to face and then he marks them with a pair of compasses. This is a very careful method and it is one that every dress maker should learn.

LA LUNE

By F. H. LANCASTER.
(Copyright, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

Isidore sat on the front steps smoking twilight cigarettes in thoughtful sequence. The moon was rising and he looked at her as he smoked but he was not thinking of the moon. He was thinking of Isabelle the beauty of the school and the head of his class. He had been good friends but since they had come to sit together in the same class every day she had treated him with marked indifference. Why? Because she had found out that she was smarter than he was?

Monsieur's hearty voice broke into the uncomfortable conclusion saying joyfully: "Ha Isidore! What das you tink 'bout so hard?"

I was tink bout das moon, Isidore told him promptly. What tis make her come up ha?

God knows, chuckled monsieur. Madame spoke up gently. Volla Dore. Why you dont ask teacher aus?

Isidore paused. Teacher was a young woman with a long nose and glasses that glittered. Truly not a person to be questioned lightly. And to do it with Isabelle looking on disdaining his ignorance—must monsieur? Maybe tis Isabelle dont know why tis moon come up?

And tis Isabelle dont know, and if he could find out and then spring the knowledge on her—Lut yes. It would be worth working for. As the possibilities of the situation became clear to him Isidore realized that it would be worth wading through teacher.

So at chance that it was the teacher was walking home from school next morning Isidore saw one of her tall boys coming toward her with a detour in the path.

What is yous smacking? If you Isidore saw the teacher's hand on the boy's cheek and he saw the boy's face turn red.

"Yes," she insisted. "What 'tis" Isabelle recovered herself with still disdain.

She ain't been tell me not in?" she said coldly and stepped into the grass to pass him.

Isidore was before her. Den how tis you know? he demanded doggedly.

Isabelle's anger blazed again. Know, she repeated. Maybe 'tis you tink I cant see? Ha?

See? Isidore questioned. "See? Mads what tis you see den?"

The beauty looked him over with burning eyes. What tis I see? Volla what 'tis I see? I see you yesterday when you give teacher ring.

Ring? Isidore repeated blankly. Ring? Then the joy of it came to him and he assumed serenely.

I gave teacher ring yesterday, yes, mads twas her ring.

Isabelle's shoulders lifted. Yes she nodded. I reckon tis her ring now and— Something too strong for her broke off Isabelle's polite speech. Isidore's serenity fled from him.

Non non! he cried. 'Twas her ring. She drop it on ground—me I pick it—I give it to her. Mads out! She was show me what tis make moon come up. And she drop it on ground. Mads out! I was like dis I must t'acher come from school and I ask her me. What tis make moon come up? And she show me how tis. Volla! Teacher have her watch but me I aint got which I take your hand. And we say BK dis. Your hand is earth where we live and dis (ring) Isidore drew to the silver one bought a year ago when his hopes were high—and dis ring will be like de moon.

And she go round and round de earth—Commence! Teacher say moon go so fast he cant fall down on earth. mads dis mads! she dont go so fast like dis. Volla she tink she dis sun set de day.

And the ring was in his hand. He was brown like a shining star in the darkness. He looked at it and Isabelle looked at him and softly the light of the world came rushing into his eyes. He saw the world as it really was. He saw the world as it really was.

Yes, he said. She was up mads. He was brown like a shining star in the darkness. He looked at it and Isabelle looked at him and softly the light of the world came rushing into his eyes. He saw the world as it really was. He saw the world as it really was.

FASHION'S LATEST FANCIES

Giving Clothes a Rest

PROCESS KEEPS GARMENTS IN FRESHNESS.

Fatal Mistake to Allow Lines and Wrinkles to Show—Proper Way to Clean and Press Skirts—Wash Flocks.

A clever girl with more taste than money always puts away her ribbons and laces to rest. This is not so much to freshen them though they are improved by it, as to have something which is apparently new to her friends when she wears them after their rest cure.

Nothing induces shabbiness in coats and gowns more than the lines and wrinkles which show that they have been worn and re-worn. Walking creases make a garment old before it has done its duty.

Men know this better than women and this is why a man is well dressed with a small wardrobe because every week or so he makes a change of suits sends the suit he has been wearing to the tailor and never by any chance allows a wrinkle to become fixed in his garments.

Here is a plan that has been tried with success for cleaning and pressing skirts. Brush them first then whisk with a clean brush dipped in ammonia and warm water. Any stain can be removed if rubbed out at once with a mixture of equal parts of ammonia, alcohol and water.

After the skirt is thoroughly cleaned brushed and dried lay it on the pressing table or board, pin each plait down in its proper fold, cover the skirt with a piece of dark woolen goods, which had been previously dampened, and then press.

After it is pressed hang it up carefully and leave the plaits pinned down until used.

To remove dust from silk skirts do not use a brush but wipe them with a piece of velvet, which will not wear the silk and will remove the dust much better than a brush.

Silk or ruffled skirts should be fitted with tapes sewed on the lower ruffles, by which they can be hung upside down. This prevents the skirt from sagging and the ruffle from drooping.

Gown of delicate material should be put away in long boxes or bureau drawers each skirt being folded in the plaits into which it should fall when worn. The bodices should be stored with tissue paper the sleeves and trimmings filled out with tissue paper also.

Wash flocks should always be put away in trunks boxes or drawers, whether they have been worn or not, for in hanging they grow stringy are more easily affected by dampness and lose freshness.

Suits and frocks should be carefully gone over and mended and repaired before they are put away for rest.

BEAUTIFUL EFFECTS SEEN IN BRAIDS

Even Thin Fabrics Do Not Escape Fashionable Trimming

No beautiful effects are wrought by prints if an eye were thought of for this reason and though trimmings are in all the latest styles to talk of the trimmings of the costumes are only using them in new designs.

The latest wrinkle for the ever popular scratcher is to sew it edge on not flat by which means greater relief is given to the pattern. Thin silks and mousseline which have a decorative effect by having embroidered motifs here and there are now lavishly adorned with sequins, tulle and other smart beads which serve to reproduce the most handsome and complicated patterns and threaten to take the place of embroidery in some instances.

Simulating stripes, cross barred effects on plain fabrics the new and more graceful satin although it takes a less amount of material for this purpose. Additional effect is also given to a striped broad by sewing a soutache along the edge of such stripes. Considering all this without what may be hereafter devised the den and for soutache likely to continue through to fall if not for another whole year or so.

We might be threatened with velvet low peil in the world of dress if fashion had not given first place to brown for it is not easy to recall a year when so many lemon shades have been handed down to us—no shiny intended. TRIMMING FOR THE JUMPER

White Lace and Light Embroideries Cunningly Used.

Many of the new eoth frocks designed with jumper bodices show a tendency to introduce about the neck and shoulders a trimming much darker than the tone of the dress material but this is combined with quantities of white lace and light embroideries which of course are admirably set off by the dark background of braid or silk binds. There is no embellishment no matter how elegant where buttons do not fit in nicely and many of the most successful decorative schemes owe much of their merit to the introduction of various little novelties in the way of buttons.

Nothing is more effective upon a dark brown or black dress than a touch of yellow and a good way to introduce a little vivid coloring into the fashionable jumper blouse is to make

Improvement on Plaited Skirt

The plaited skirt while smart in the extreme and popular beyond the dreams of even its most ardent advocates is so generally used that most of us will welcome any departure from its somewhat conventional lines. The only thing that looks like a success for rival of plaited skirt popularity is the side front closing skirt. This mode is to be noted in the latest costumes of several women known for their cleverness in dress effects.

A yellow tin broadcloth had the skirt so fastened on the left front the fastenings being accomplished by broadcloth buttons set in black rims. The little coat a half fitted effect reaching just to the hips was buttoned on the side also with buttons similar in style but a size smaller. Still another side-front effect was noted in a buff lacedown costume in which the plain waist was attached to a circular skirt, and both fastened with large covered mold buttons of brown silk. Two thick wide bands of brown silk trimmed the skirt and one finished the loose sleeves.

BEAUTIFUL FURMAN TRIBUTE

Tremendous Crowd Gathers at Station to Receive Ada's Conquering Hero

On election eve, Otis B. Weaver, president of the Furman Democratic club, arranged to have Judge Furman greeted at the station Saturday morning with a big demonstration. The judge closed his campaign at Ardmore Friday afternoon and was expected home on this morning's train. The station was arranged for a surprise for him.

The Merchant's band was engaged, and nearly 1,000 people of Ada gathered at the station to meet their distinguished neighbor upon his home coming. As the train steamed in its noise was drowned by the band music and the hurrahs from hundreds of throats, while there waved hats and flags in great profusion.

Mrs. Furman alighted from the train, but the judge did not appear. He had been detained at Ardmore, and will not reach home until this afternoon. The crowd was not to be disappointed, three cheers for Mrs. Furman were proposed and they were given most lustily. She graciously acknowledged the compliment as she was surrounded by a large number of admiring friends, and the train pulled on north exhorting by the shouts of the people to "Run as fast as Furman is running," and to "Carry the Furman sentiment on north."

PRIMARY ELECTION TALK

Expect Total Vote of 100,000 All Candidates Still Confident

This is primary election day for democratic candidates for all state, judicial, legislative, county, township, and precinct offices, county and precinct committeemen, and members of the United States senators. The election is to be conducted under the supervision of the central committees of each county of both Indian Territory and Oklahoma.

There are about 1,950 townships in the Territories. It is estimated nearly 30,000 names will appear on the combined tickets, which includes candidates for all grades of office from United States senators to precinct committeemen. Six places are to be filled in each township, thirteen in each county, 144 members of the legislature are to be elected, there are 55 candidates for state offices, all exclusive of judicial district offices. At least two people aspire to nearly every office, while some places are contended for by five or six candidates; so, if anything, the estimate is nearly the minimum. While these figures from one party appear large, there is stated that the new government must be organized from the ground up, and any opposing party putting out tickets will make about the same showing.

The democratic organization anticipates approximately a full vote in the primary election. In the election for constitutional convention delegates Indian Territory cast 51,533 and Oklahoma 52,133 democratic votes. A total of 103,666. If there is anything in the republican claim that many of their party voted the democratic ticket the aggregate Saturday will not reach these figures. As there are few statistics to rely upon it is almost impossible to determine how heavy the voting will be, but there is reason to believe that the interest the candidates have aroused will rally many voters to the polls. There has been no easing up by the candidates; on the contrary this week has brought forth about all the vigor remaining.

The list of candidates for state offices to appear on the official ballot is unchanged from that recently published by the state committee excepting the race for state labor commissioner, from which J. S. Murray, of Elmit, I. T., recently withdrew. This gives the office to Charles L. Dougherty of Oklahoma City without a contest.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—Estimates on the vote to be cast in the Oklahoma democratic primaries today vary from 60,000 to 120,000, the latter being accepted by leaders as the correct party strength in the new state. A total of 80,000 is thought by many to be a conservative prediction, unless, as is expected, many republicans enter the primaries on account of the inactivity of their own party.

The heaviest vote is looked for from Indian Territory, where matters approaching statehood are believed to be the most popular.

The republican state organization here manifests no interest in the result. It insists that the total poll will not exceed 60,000 votes notwithstanding the interest aroused through the individual campaign.

A number of candidates closed their campaigns here last night. Of the gubernatorial candidates (Crucé finished in Tishomingo, Haskell in Wagoner and Doyle in Guthrie. Hoffman, Turner and Gore senatorial candidates from the Oklahoma side, is each claiming a victory anywhere from 7,000 to 20,000 plurality. Doyle for governor, claims 50 per cent of the Oklahoma vote, and a plurality in the Choctaw Nation.

Returns will be received here at the state democratic headquarters, and the headquarters of Crucé and Hoffman, Haskell will get his information in Muskogee.

A SWEEPING DECISION

Thousands of Choctaw Will Cases Knocked Out By Townsend.

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—Thousands of Mississippi Choctaw Indian will cases have been knocked out in the Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations by a decision of Judge Townsend of Ardmore. The case in point was that of John Pritchett vs. J. E. Arnold. The latter who had brought many Mississippi Choctaws from Mississippi, had them will him their land and make them executor of their wills. About 100 wills of this kind have been filed by Arnold with the United States clerk W. W. Bennett, contest attorney for the government, asked that wills be not admitted to probate, on the grounds that the Mississippi Choctaws had not proved up their right and had no estate other than their certificate of designation of their lands. Before a deed can be secured a Mississippi Choctaw must live in Indian Territory three years. Judge Townsend sustained Mr. Bennett on every point. There are thousands of cases similar to the Arnold cases.

PONTOTOC'S BIG ELECTION

Lots of Work and Milling About But not the Large Vote Expected.

Ada's first big election day dawned sultry, and the ice famine which is on today didn't help the weather, either.

The various candidates and their workers got out early. Ere long, the sidewalks were a mass of jostling, milling humanity. Workers and wagons had been pulling and hauling all day. It is just such a busy day of electioneering and whispered conferences as one would expect when so many offices are to be filled and so many men are running for them.

At three o'clock p. m. about 200 votes had been cast in each of the two Ada boxes. It is thought the final vote in each will reach 300, and that the counting of the ballots will be completed by midnight.

At three o'clock a phone message from Stonewall said 120 votes had been cast there, and 160 were expected; that among those apparently carrying the box were Crucé, Linebaugh, Dean, Nester and Kerr.

At Francis the voting is very sluggish, scarcely more than half the vote is expected. It is reported that there is no opposition to Furman there, the box is going to Roddy and to Cox. For sheriff, Smith and Bobbitt are in the lead.

to furnish the name of Adaby cast a single vote against Pontotoc county's great commoner. Otis B. Weaver followed with a speech supporting candidacy of J. W. Dean for state senator, incidentally explaining the reasons for his own withdrawal from race.

The latter half of the program consisted of a spirited joint discussion between James W. Bolen, representing Haskell, and T. D. McKeown, championing the cause of Crucé. Both acquitted themselves splendidly, playing marked forensic ability, each presenting the claims of his principal with admirable vigor and fide. Although this debate lasted until a midnight the bulk of the crowd remained to the last, orderly, good natured, comfortable, and manifestly agreeably edited.

Something Needed Portland Park Addition

Lots near the big Cement Plant to accommodate the hundreds of laborers to be employed in this great industry. This need has been met by laying out the Portland Park Addition just west of the cement plant. Lots are 30 feet by 140, with 60-foot streets and 20-foot alleys. Prices of lots are from $20 to $30. Terms, $5 down and $2 per month. A large reservoir is to be built on the north side by the cement company which will afford boating and fishing.

The Title is Perfect and the Location Slightly and Healthful. Get on Easy Street by Buying Lots in Portland Park. Homes in the Reach of All in Portland Park Addition. Plant your Money in Portland Park and let it Grow. Real Estate is the foundation of wealth—it's safe and sure. Get in on the ground floor at Portland Park.

Only room for 80 families in Portland Park while hundreds will be needed. This is the only land that will be available for years.

Have you seen Ada lots advance one hundred and even one thousand percent, while you waited to see what the town would do? Take a tumble to yourself and buy lots in Portland Park. These lots are being sold at half their real value and on terms within the reach of all.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—Estimates on the vote to be cast in the Oklahoma democratic primaries today vary from 60,000 to 120,000, the latter being accepted by leaders as the correct party strength in the new state. A total of 80,000 is thought by many to be a conservative prediction, unless, as is expected, many republicans enter the primaries on account of the inactivity of their own party.

The heaviest vote is looked for from Indian Territory, where matters approaching statehood are believed to be the most popular.

The republican state organization here manifests no interest in the result. It insists that the total poll will not exceed 60,000 votes notwithstanding the interest aroused through the individual campaign.

A number of candidates closed their campaigns here last night. Of the gubernatorial candidates (Crucé finished in Tishomingo, Haskell in Wagoner and Doyle in Guthrie. Hoffman, Turner and Gore senatorial candidates from the Oklahoma side, is each claiming a victory anywhere from 7,000 to 20,000 plurality. Doyle for governor, claims 50 per cent of the Oklahoma vote, and a plurality in the Choctaw Nation.

Returns will be received here at the state democratic headquarters, and the headquarters of Crucé and Hoffman, Haskell will get his information in Muskogee.

Oklahoma City, Okla., June 8.—On the eve of the democratic primaries, both Mr. Haskell of Muskogee, and Mr. Crucé of Ardmore are claiming the gubernatorial nomination. From the best information Mr. Haskell is counting on sweeping the majority portion of Indian Territory with the exception of Chickasaw Nation, where he figures upon dividing honors with Mr. Crucé, and counts on polling a substantial vote in Oklahoma. This statement has been given the public by Mr. Haskell's supporters.

"The former vote of the two territories will give C. N. Haskell the gubernatorial nomination Saturday. A careful canvass of the state shows that four-fifths of the former vote is for Haskell on his constitutional record and fight against corporations.

Haskell will carry Indian Territory by 15,000 votes, which will more than nominate. The Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw and Seminole Nations are solidly lined up for him and in Chickasaw Nation he will carry Garvin, Murray, Johnson and Pontotoc counties with about an even break in Grady and Stevens. From the Cherokee and Choctaw nations will come the majority that will count.

In Oklahoma Mr. Haskell will carry Pontawatomie, Kay, Payne, Grant, Alfalfa, Majors, Tillman, Beckham, Washita, Jackson, Ellis and Beaver. His vote will be very close in Kiowa, Cleveland and Blaine."

John P. Dulin of Alva, Woods county, in charge of Mr. Crucé headquarters here, puts the Ardmore man down for 25,000 plurality in the state at large, 15,000 in Oklahoma and 10,000 in Indian Territory. This organization is counting on a heavy vote from the Chickasaw Nation, Mr. Crucé's home country, and will more than get a record in the Choctaw country. This statement was made today.

From a careful poll of the heavy voting counties of both territories Crucé will lead the highest candidate by 25,000 votes. We feel that the campaign has been waged to its limit, and certainly Mr. Crucé has lost no ground since the poll was taken. From Oklahoma will come 15,000 of these votes, and from Indian Territory 10,000.

No statement has been secured from Tom Doyle, the Oklahoma candidate.

GOT UP AGAINST EXPLOSIVE

Muskogee, I. T., June 8.—"Whiskey" Johnson has gained the reputation going up against any kind of a gun but he reached the limit the other night when he tackled a nitro glycerine wagon and started smashing it. Heaving it was whiskey. When Johnson made for the wagon the driver gave one yell, sprang from the wagon and jumped into the Arkansas river. Johnson saw his mistake just in time to prevent being wiped out of existence along with three or four other men and three teams.

It all happened near Red F. Johnson with assistants, was driven to Sapulpa when in the dusk, he two teams. One was a whiskey wagon and the other was a wagon with nitro glycerine, loaded for wells. In the dusk and confusion Johnson made for the wrong way. The boot-legger's outfit was captured and 120 bottles of liquor smashed. The driver of the wagon leaped from his wagon, disappeared in a thicket and swimming the Arkansas river in his escape.

A. H. Burgess of Sadler, Tex., who was in Ada yesterday on business returned to his home this morning.

GREAT OPEN AIR MEETING

Democrats, Both Male and Female Listen to Speeches Till Midnight.

It was a notable gathering, that in front of The News office Friday night, on the eve of the election. It had been advertised to take place at the court house, but it was decided it would be more pleasant out of doors. An abundance of chairs was provided, and a table placed near the Light Company's brilliant front, which furnished plenty of light for the speakers to read particularly important "dope" by.

By nine o'clock a large crowd of voters and fair non-voters had assembled and the speaking began. Otis B. Weaver called the assembled people to order and introduced Mayor C. O. Barton as the presiding officer and as the speaker selected to make an address in behalf of Judge Furman's candidacy. The mayor in his dignified and forceful manner spoke for about forty minutes, paying high tribute to the character and talents of Furman and exhorted his neighbors not

STILL MAKING FUN OF OUR NAME

Ada is now in the second class post office ranks. It is so put in over the distinction that we confidently expect to see it spell its name Adah.

The above comment is from the exchange editor of the Oklahoma Press. These foreigners will never quit poking fun at our name. Of course it is effeminate and very derivative. But last year the News held a voting contest giving citizens a chance to express a desire to change the name with the result showing an utter indifference as to what the name is called.
